LANGUAGE LABORATORY ACTIVITIES

STUDENT TEXT

PREFACE

The American Language Course (ALC) is designed primarily for an intensive language training program. However, these materials can also be used in nonintensive programs. The course will provide students with a sufficient level of fluency and communicative proficiency in English to enable them to successfully pursue technical or professional training in schools conducted by the Department of Defense.

The General English Phase of the ALC consists of six progressive levels of language proficiency training. Each level contains 6 separate instructional packages.

Level I	Books 1 - 6
Level II	Books 7 - 12
Level III	Books 13 - 18
Level IV	Books 19 - 24
Level V	Books 25 - 30
Level VI	Books 31 - 36

The coordinated instructional packages consist of the following:

1. Instructor Text
2. Student Text
3. Audio tapes
4. Instructor Language Laboratory Activities Booklet
5. Student Language Laboratory Activities Booklet
6. Quiz Kits

Inquiries concerning these materials, including requests for copies or authority to reproduce materials contained therein, should be addressed to Commandant, Defense Language Institute, ATTN: LERW, Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, 78236-5000.

Recommendations for improving this pilot edition are encouraged. Letters should be addressed to: Commandant, Defense Language Institute English Language Center, ATTN: LEAC, Lackland Air Force Base, Texas 78236-5000.

NOTES TO THE STUDENT

This booklet contains the Language Laboratory Activities (LLA) for Book 15.

You will need a pen or pencil and this booklet to do the activities correctly. All directions are given orally on the tapes. It is important to listen carefully to the instructions and to do the things the tape tells you to do. You will be told to repeat words or sentences and to ask and answer questions. You will also be told to choose and mark certain words or expressions, or to write special words, phrases, or sentences. Most of the time the tape will give you the correct answers right away, so you can check your work. Sometimes the tape will tell you to look on a certain page for the answers. Relax, listen carefully, and respond!

Sergeant: FALL IN!

Pvt Smith: I don't think I can march any farther in this heat! I'm already sweating.

Pvt Jones: Don't let the sergeant hear you say that or he'll make you keep walking 'til you have to crawl on your hands and knees.

Sergeant: You can take a break now. Ten minutes and then we'll do the next drill. It'll be marching with weapons, so get the sweat off your hands and relax these ten minutes. FALL OUT!

Pvt Smith: The sarge is tough and works us hard, but he gives us a chance to rest between drills.

Pvt Jones: Yeah. It's almost like he heard you complain about the heat.

Sergeant: All right, now. Uniform of the day is fatigues, your work clothes. I want everything in this barracks to shine! Sweep the floor and get out all the dirt, and then mop it with plenty of soap and water. Scrub it with a brush on your hands and knees if you have to. Polish the furniture and windows till they shine, inside and out! You didn't join this man's army to rest and have a good time! You entered it to learn how to work. Now get out the polish for this place and get busy!

Pvt Smith: Why does he have to yell?

Pvt Jones: He must think we won't do it if he doesn't tell us loudly.

Sergeant: Okay! I see you trainees need special instructions on how to iron your uniforms. None of you guys in training have them as smooth as they should be.

Pvt Smith: But Sarge, I've never used an iron before. My mom always ironed my shirts for me.

Pvt Jones: Me too, Sarge. I guess we need to learn how to iron.

Sergeant: I'm about to instruct you. Pay attention. We'll think of this as drilling you in how to iron. And a drill means practice, practice, practice, so you two can practice what you've learned on the uniforms of everyone in this barracks!

Pvt Smith: Aw, Sarge!

Pvt Jones: When will we learn not to complain?

Figure 5

The mess sergeant in the mess hall promised the trainees a special dinner at the end of their basic training. They all told him what their favorite meal was. He tried to take one thing from each menu and plan a good meal. The trainees thought the mess hall smelled so good that the meal was sure to taste good. They were right! And there was something special for everyone.

Pvt Smith and Pvt Jones are learning a lot of things in the Army. Their mothers used to take care of their clothes and homes. Now they have learned how to iron their own clothes, and they have swept the barracks with brooms and learned how to use a mop. Before they entered the service, they didn't do the physical work they used to call "housework." But they do it now, and they have learned to appreciate their mothers.

They watch the other men carefully after they have cleaned. They guard the area they've cleaned and make sure that the other men don't leave trash around the barracks. Now they know why their mothers used to yell at them!

Mike Marsh and Molly Kelly were married in June. They held the wedding ceremony inside her home. Before the ceremony, they had to make plans for all the food and drinks, because afterwards there was a big reception outside. It was a lovely party to celebrate the happy wedding! They invited a lot of guests. Most of them were friends of the young couple, but, in addition to their friends, invitations to the celebration went to friends of their parents, too. It was a beautiful day!

Figure 2

When Mike and Molly Marsh got home from their honeymoon, they had a barbecue for their families. They had the party as soon as they moved into their new apartment. At first, they were afraid they didn't have enough room for their guests. They were afraid that there weren't places for all of them to sit. But Mike put chairs around the table and in the living room, and they made room for everyone. Then, there was nowhere to put the food!

Mike and Molly Marsh are going to celebrate their first anniversary on the tenth of next month. It's been almost one year since they were married. They aren't sure how they want to celebrate it, but they know they want to have some kind of get-together. Mike enjoys cooking outdoors, so he offered to barbecue steaks if Molly wants to have company for dinner.

Molly isn't sure she wants guests for dinner, because she hasn't got a lot of nice dishes, and having guests is a lot of work. She thought they might go to a dance at the club they belong to, and she's got a beautiful new dress she wants to wear.

But she's also thinking about having a luncheon at the club the Sunday before their anniversary. People could drop in when they wanted to and help themselves to the food. The cook at the club could barbecue and slice beef and put the slices on the table with cheese and rolls. They'd also have pickles, mayonnaise, mustard, ketchup, and other sauces on the table so people could make sandwiches. There would be vanilla and chocolate cake for dessert. There would also be wine and beer for those who wanted it.

"This way," she tells Mike, "we can get a rain check from the club if it rains. Then, we can postpone the party until the next Sunday, and we won't miss our anniversary. Don't you think that's a good idea?"

Mike doesn't answer. He isn't really sure of anything except how much it's going to cost.

GOING TO THE U.S.

Travel Agent: International Travel Agency. May I help you?

YOU: Yes, I need some information. I'm going overseas to the United States. Can you give me information about your air fares?

Travel Agent: Will this be a one-way or a round-trip ticket?

YOU: A round-trip ticket. I'll be there around 10 months. I need to leave in November.

Travel Agent: Is there a special reason for your trip?

YOU: Yes, I'm taking a course in San Antonio, Texas.

Travel Agent: That's exciting! We have a very good deal for you because you're leaving at an unusual time of the year, not during the tourist season.

YOU: That's great! Tell me about it.

Travel Agent: A round-trip ticket will be $1800.00.

YOU: What happens if I postpone my return for some reason?

Travel Agent: If you need to return later, call the nearest airline office as soon as you can.

YOU: Thank you.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO TEXAS ....

Paul: Hello?

You: Hi, Paul. It's me.

Paul: What are you doing?

You: Guess what! I'm going to San Antonio, Texas, in November.

Paul: Really? Congratulations! I just saw an old movie about the history of Texas.

You: What was the name of it?

Paul: The Alamo.

You: But that was just a movie, not real history. Was John Wayne in that movie?

Paul: Yeah, he was in it. He's <sup>adj</sup> dead now, I think.

You: Yeah, he died some time ago.

Paul: How old was he at the time of his death? <sup>adj</sup>

You: I don't know for sure, but he had a long life. <sup>num</sup> <sup>adj</sup> (N).

Paul: He sure made lots of movies when he was alive. <sup>adj</sup> (adj)

You: Yes, and he earned lots of money, too.

Paul: Well, you know that the Alamo museum is in San Antonio.

You: I'll have to photograph the place and send you some photos.

Paul: Don't forget, and have a great trip!

You: Thanks, Paul.

Dear Son,

I was going to visit you in December, but because you're going to the United States, I will postpone my visit until you come back. I'm writing you to give you a little advice.

First, you ought to be very careful when you choose your new friends. Second, you should make sure your family knows where to find you. You may be tired of my advice, but I'm your mother, and I will always have some advice for you.

Your brother would like to come and visit you in the U.S. But he must not be too worried about the trip, because he hasn't called you yet. I remember when both of you were very young. The two of you were always together. Then, when you got older, you used to get him in trouble all the time, but he followed you around anyway.

Have a good trip and write me as soon as you can.

Poor Larry felt hot and cold and dizzy. He felt like his head was going around and around. He thought lying down for a while might make him feel better, so he went to his room and went to bed. It didn't help. He decided he was really ill and ought to go to the clinic on sick call. The doctor at the clinic told Larry that feeling hot and cold and dizzy were symptoms of the flu. He prescribed aspirin to reduce the fever and three days of bed rest. Larry was glad the doctor told him to go to bed because he felt very weak. After taking the aspirin tablets and resting for two days, Larry seemed better, but he stayed in bed the third day too because he thought the doctor knew best.

Most doctors keep good records on their patients. When a patient arrives at the clinic, he signs in and gives an identification number which is usually his social security number. Then he takes a seat and waits. The nurse tells him when the doctor is ready to see him. The doctor usually reads his record before he examines him. This helps him decide on a treatment because the record tells him what the patient's pulse and blood pressure were at his last visit and if he's allergic to any drugs like penicillin or sulfa. If he is, the doctor must be careful of the type of medication he prescribes.

He had some tests at the laboratory in the clinic where they test for allergies, and the test showed that he was extremely allergic to chalk. They usually treat allergies with shots, but Harry doesn't like shots, so he asked if he could have some other kind of medication. The doctor gave him a prescription for some pills. Harry took the prescription to the pharmacy. He gave them the doctor's order for his medicine. He got the prescription filled right away and started taking the pills so he could go to class the next day with clear eyes and a clear nose.

George and Bob were walking to the BX. George fell and injured his leg. When he saw the blood on his pants, he tried to stay calm, but he was afraid the injury was really bad. He thought he might need an operation.

Bob appeared calm but he was really nervous. He knew George needed a doctor's care when he saw that George couldn't get up by himself. He got his car and took George to the hospital. Then he waited and waited while the doctor examined George. When the doctor came out, he told Bob he wasn't going to operate. George's ankle wasn't sprained, and the doctor said he would be all right in a day or two. Bob signed George out of the hospital and took him home. For a long time afterwards, George talked about the day he hurt his ankle.
